Learning Opportunity

Level I VTRA (Two-Day) Training School and Community Based Edition

Canadian Centre for Threat Assessment and Trauma Response

Training Purpose: The two-day training will provide participants with the steps and skills necessary to bring together education, police and community agencies to successfully participate in community based threat assessment protocol meetings and multi-disciplinary, cross sector VTRA assessments.

The training will further entrench the VTRA Model and its foundational principles for participants who have received VTRA training and as a community are committed to protocol development and multi disciplinary assessment.

Training Goals: Participants will leave with information that will enable them to apply the VTRA model to community based protocol meetings and the implementation of VTRA assessment objectives and strategies. Participants will hear about the conditions that are necessary to ensure protocol partners maintain rigorous assessment practices when assessing student behaviors.

Bonnie Randall

Bonnie Randall has been a clinical social worker in her home province of Alberta for close to 30 years. Her early career was spent working alongside Kevin Cameron as a Family School Liaison Counselor with Horizon School Division in the years leading up to the Taber School Shooting. Following that, she held an 11-year tenure with Child Protection in West-Central Alberta, carrying an investigation caseload and acting as case manager for high-risk teens.

Bonnie moved into a therapeutic role in 2005 for Alberta Health Services Addictions and Mental Health. Years of providing clinical counseling to clients with substance abuse disorders and historical trauma allowed Bonnie to reflect deeply on metrics like the Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs) Scale and the Resiliency Scale—each of which measure how early adversity and early supports quite literally change the trajectory of brain development. It was that work which inspired Bonnie to pioneer her own workshop: ACEs High, But Resiliency Holds The Winning Hand, then the supplement training of ACEs Through A VTRA Lens which examines the many intersects between a high ACEs score and the traits of the Individuals of Concern we often refer to as 'Empty Vessels' in Violent Threat Risk Assessment. The seriousness of early adversity combined with the measure of hope within resiliency make these workshops truly unique and inspirational; healing is not only possible but also attainable when we match resource to risk then support people in making the lasting gains which, quite literally, change their lives.

Bonnie lives in the Greater Edmonton Area with her husband, an educator and school principal for close to thirty years. When she is not immersed in clinical practice or out on the road for C-TIP, Bonnie is a fiction novelist whose most recent fiction title, the Critically Acclaimed novel

The Shadow Collector, rapidly became an Amazon #1 Bestseller upon its release in May 2023.

She is currently busy working on Book II in her Shadow Valley series.
