Program

This is internal PD for PWSD Colony Teachers.

“Color Mixing, Skies and Water”: Plasticene Study. This requires the participant to mix colours and follow the base principals of laying in background and building up to the foreground. Some students who have tried this are greatly encouraged by their success. "I can't even draw and look at this beautiful sky I made."

“Ink Animals”: Permanent and washable marker animals. Everything is shapes and smaller shapes within these shapes. Basic drawing techniques in pencil, outlined in permanent marker and filled in with washable marker on watercolour paper. Participants will then use plain water to soften and manipulate the washable markers resulting in an ink painting. This process is great for students who may have some drawing ability but are intimidated with painting.

Morning refreshments and lunch are provided.

If outside participants wish to register, there will be an $85 registration fee. Please contact register@nrlc.net for details.
